

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

London.—American colony cheered with arrival of first American mail in nearly three weeks. Last previous mail from U. S. was received Feb. 4, dated Jan. 27.

New York.—Justice Hotchkiss ruled that Douglas Fairbanks doesn't have to accept $3,000 a week salary from movie company he doesn't want to work for, if he doesn't want to. Doug wants to start his own show. The company wants him not to.

Washington.—Loss to American exports commerce through limitation of exports into Great Britain may reach $100,000,000 this year.

Los Angeles.—Enrico Aresoni, grand opera singer of New York, charged with fleeing with $20,000 worth of Mrs. Jesse Ulrey's gems.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, famous contralto, seriously hurt when street car hit her taxi.

Augusta.—Gov. Milliken signed a resolution for referendum on suffrage for women.

Washington.—March 5 fixed as inaugural day for Pres. Wilson, March 4 falling on Sunday.

Springfield.—Illinois 2-cent passenger fare law will remain effective pending further appeal to supreme court.